Leadership Congress

Most people reading this issue of The Victory Report were not at the National Leadership Congress on September 2-4. I know, that it is often hard to make the trip. But those that did, certainly had a great time, got re-ignited with some powerful information and returned home with renewed dedication. I also made an important announcement Sunday evening. If you were not here then you are going to have to wait until we give more details later this fall. But those that were here were excited and I know you will be also.

There will be a full report of this 2011 leadership congress in the next issue of The Crusader, along with other informative and exciting information. This issue is under preparation to be sent to the printer. CALL NOW! 870-427-3414 and it is possible that we can get a bulk order ready for you. If not you need to set aside a few dollars to order some for distribution at the next printing. The cost for a bulk quantity is $50 for 200.

Some order extra copies to distribute and others will order a bulk shipment to be sent to a distributor. So, even if you are unable to distribute these yourself we can have them sent to a distributor for you.

I Said "No" to Literacy!

Ok! It is not as bad as it seems. Let me explain. I like helping people. I generally give small donations to most any charity. Of course, it depends on where it is going. When I am approached to give to a charity I always ask where it is going. If I think it is going to help some white kids or family, I like to help. The demographics of this area of Arkansas is over 99% white. So I will ask if the contributions are going locally or are they going to Little Rock.

(I'll let you guess what is in Little Rock.) If the money is going to Little Rock, I keep my hands in my pocket. If it is to be used locally I don't mind helping.

Over the past few days I have been asked at several stores if I would like to make a donation to help literacy?

I don't mind telling you that giving money to help "Stamp out Illiteracy" has got to be the stupidest charity I have ever heard of, yet I stand in the store and see people throwing their money in the little collection box thinking they are going to “Stamp out Illiteracy” in our lifetime.

Certainly you must understand: It doesn't take money to learn how to read. Money might buy expensive books but it doesn't create the ability to read. When I was a child I read cereal boxes, directions, road signs, etc. None of these things cost money. Things to read are everywhere!

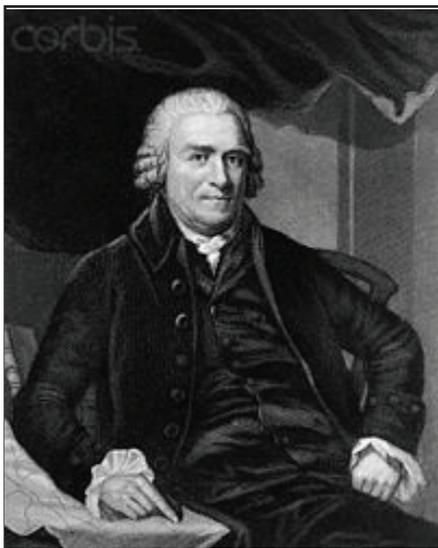

When I was sent home from school with books to read - I read them! I was a good and avid reader. My parents never had to wait until a charity check came in the mail in order to learn a new word.

Words are free!

Samuel Adams Said

"The liberties of our country, the freedom of our civil Constitution, are worth defending at all hazards; and it is our duty to defend them against all attacks. We have received them as a fair inheritance from our worthy ancestors: they purchased them for us with toil and danger and expense of treasure and blood, and transmitted them to us with care and diligence. It will bring an everlasting mark of infamy on the present generation, enlightened as it is, if we should suffer them to be wrested from us by violence without a struggle, or to be cheated out of them by the artifices of false and designing men."

Bait Car

I turned on the TV this evening to watch FOX News and was immediately being bombarded by Sean Hannity giving cheers for how wonderful Martin Luther King was.

So I held my stomach and changed channels!

On this new channel I watched some Negro “Gospel” singers gyrating across the stage and doing the things that Negroes do.

I really can't be angry with them. After all, they are Negroes.

The next channel was a Jewish “preacher” talking about “Jesus the Jew!”

That didn't last long!

Then I pushed the remote and the program was Bait Car. I have seen this before and thought it was entertaining.

Here is how it works. The cops take a nice car and place it where there have been signs of Negro activity. Then they sit back and watch for a Negro to take the bait.

It doesn't take long and they can usually get their limit fairly quick.

Now mind you it doesn't have to be a Negro but experience has evidently proven that leaving a bait car where “country boys” hang out makes for boring television.

“Country boys” don't usually steal cars.

Even the spoiled white kids in the suburbs who think they are being cool by listening to rap “music” on the radio don't steal cars.

No, the best place to get your daily catch is in the “hood.”

So the bait car is in place and the trap is set. Now all the cops have to do is sit back, eat a chili dog and wait.

Soon a Negro will approach the bait car. He may be alone or with a pack of other Negroes. But it doesn't matter, the enticement is too great. He scurries about the car and then makes his approach to the driver's side and looks inside.

“It be cool”

(You'll have to forgive me - but I don't speak Negro!)

Anyway, he says something and steps back. Others of his tribe look at the car also. They are not sure what to do. Some more timid Negroes will walk

away and then circle back. It is like a ritual. Circle the car, approach the car, fall back, approach car again.

Temptation is mounting!

Some taunt the more aggressive Negro. Others shame him for being afraid. He may do a little dance ritual as he lunges forward and then back and finally he is in the car and the trap springs shut.

As he drives away, the cops move in and the Negro suddenly realizes that he has been caught, the doors won't open so he can't escape. Only the cops can open the door and let the Negro out.

All kinds of Negroes have been caught using the bait car: fat Negroes, skinny Negroes, old Negroes, young Negroes, male Negroes and female Negroes. Sometimes they are even able to catch two or three Negroes in the same trap.

As soon as the caught Negroes are taken away for processing, the bait car is placed in another location and the cops order another chili dog.

Catching Negroes with the bait car is an unfortunate phenomenon. Because we all know that the vast majority of Negroes are peaceful law abiding citizens who are valuable members of our society and live in some of the best and safest communities. These law abiding Negroes are the back bone of our society providing health care, food stamps and public housing to millions of white people who are just looking for a free hand-out!

Wait a minute! I think I'm confused!

Love your Brother & Sister

Have you ever known people you didn't like. You don't know why - you just don't like them and you can't understand why others do?

Why is it that when people get involved in the patriotic movement (The Knights etc.) they think that everyone has to like each other?

Do you realize that God made many different kinds of people. Some people are choleric, others sanguine, still others melancholy or phlegmatic.

You can learn more about these various personalities by checking them out on the internet. These four personalities were first identified about 400 BC. Even though the traits of all four personalities are found in everyone, people usually have one dominant and one secondary personality. For example, I have an over all choleric personality. However, in public I express more of a sanguine personality and at home I express more of a melancholy personality. However my choleric personality always dominates.

Herein lies the problem. The person who has a dominant sanguine personality may not get along with the person with a dominant melancholy personality. They may never "hit it off" and become true friends. It is the same with the other personalities. There is no such thing as one being good and the other bad. All personalities have traits that make them excel in certain areas and yet the traits of these personalities can also be a handicap in other areas.

That is why sometimes you meet people and it is like instant friendship. Other times you become friends with someone but after awhile the dominant personality begins to appear. And your friendship begins to "sour."

This is just the way it is. The problem is that when it does happen people begin to think badly of the other person. The choleric personality which has been described as a "take charge" personality will sometimes irate the others personality types who are not so aggressive. However, the choleric personality who usually is task driven ("Let's get going, let's get it done!") becomes irritated with the sanguine who usually is not in such a hurry or the melancholy who wants to get things done but has to wait until everything is just perfect before he begins. However, "perfect" never happens!

Even though I have read several books about these personality traits I am certainly not an expert. However, it has helped me to understand people and be appreciative of each one.

Each personality trait is powerful and has great potential. Each personality has a lot to offer the movement and as people learn about their personality they can begin to appreciate their strong points and identify the areas in which their personality has weaknesses.

When we recognize these differences we can appreciate the effectiveness of others. We can appreciate the fact John and Sam have different personalities and may never be buddies, but they have the same love for race, faith and homeland and the strengths of their personalities, though different, are reaching out for the same goal.

Yes, I know sometimes people are just plain rotten and we don't need them in our midst. But often times it is simply a failure to understand our personality difference.

That is why we are not instructed in the Bible to like our brother and sister - we are only instructed to love our brother and sister.

The Doggie Game

Well, that seems to be the name of the game that two sodomites were playing on the night of September 5. I am not sure how the game is played and I don't think I want to know, but Brett Cummins, a meteorologist for television station KARK in Little Rock and his "friend," Dexter Williams were eager to play the game and went to the home of Christopher Barbour to party.

Bow Wow - Bow Wow - Bow Wow Without knowing the details of the Doggie Game, this much is known for sure. Brett Cummins woke up Monday morning and found his "friend" laying naked in the bathtub with a dog collar around his neck.

No one has reported, as of yet, whether Cummins was naked. But it does appear that the rules of the game require two men to get naked in a bath tub. No doubt, Cummins has played the Doggie game many times before because he was the clear winner of the Doggie rumble.

When Cummins woke up the next morning he found his friend's head in his lap with a pasty gray color - like in dead! Cummins ran vomiting out of the bathroom and screaming like a little girl.

Did I say he was naked?

His little "friend" had a dog chain around his neck that got pulled - just a little too tight! I think maybe when let out a doggie whimper Cummins was suppose to say something like, "Grrr - your're such a bad doggie," then loosen the chain and spank his bottom.

Well any way - Cummins was "going for the gold" and wasn't about to let loose when he was in the home stretch.

So here's the deal: one bathtub, one naked man, one dog collar and one stinking corpse.

That's so gay!
